Will Again Nominate Him for the Federal Trade Commission.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Wilson will make a third attempt to place George Rublee of New Hampshire on the Federal Trade commission of the next session of congress. It was reported here today that the commission office has been thrice rejected by the senate owing to the bitter opposition of Senator Gallinger. The victory of the Democratic party is interpreted in some quarters as an endorsement of Rublee in the Granite state.

In Montana the temperature has dropped to 17 below zero.

DARING FEAT OF MAN ON RIVER

Capsized in Canoe He Swims in Swift Current From Dover Point to Greenacre at Eliot

On Sunday afternoon D. Albert Watson of Durham had an experience on the river which will linger long in his memory. He accomplished a feat in swimming to save his life that seems impossible for any man to perform and live to tell the tale. Mr. Watson has for many years moved up and down the Piscataqua and Great Bay in a canoe, which requires great skill and he is known as an expert with the frail craft. He came from Durham to Eliot on Saturday and started back with the frail craft at 4.30. The tide was running down at the time and he had hardly reached the vicinity of the Dover Point bridge when the craft capsized. He made several attempts to get back into the canoe but failed. The current was fast, carrying him away from the bridge and he finally gave up his grasp on the canoe and started for the shore. He found it impossible to make either Newington or Dover Point and so headed for the Eliot side. After a struggle of nearly three-quarters of an hour he reached the shore off Greenacre.

In conversation with a Herald man Mr. Watson appeared to think more of the lost canoe than he did about himself. He said he felt no fear of any danger in the perilous swim and felt no bad effects from the same.

TAKES OWN LIFE WITH REVOLVER ON SUNDAY

Robert W. Phinney Committed Suicide Through Despondency Over Ill Health and Brooding Over the Election—Act Was Premeditated

Robert W. Phinney, a native of Portsmouth, and for the past 25 years the janitor of the Whipple School, committed suicide in the school building on Sunday morning, taking his life by means of a revolver. The act is believed to have been premeditated as he had made careful preparations for the disposal of his body and his actions of the last two or three days of his life were such as to cause his friends now to believe that he had been contemplating this move. Before sending the bullet into his brain that ended his life he gave warning to F. E. Kane, a newspaperman attached to the staff of the Herald, but before Mr. Kane could do anything to prevent Mr. Phinney from completing his act the shots were fired. Mr. Phinney was always active in politics and had served his city as a member of the Board of Aldermen and the City Council on different occasions. During the campaign just closed Mr. Phinney had taken a very active part and worked hard for the election of

MEXICAN PROBLEM STILL UP TO PRESIDENT

Situation Now as Bad as at Any Time—No Hope From Commission.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Wilson on his return to Washington after victory at the polls found the Mexican situation still menacing. The entire Mexican problem is among the subjects for his consideration at the conference which the President will have with Secretary Lansing. In official circles there is little hope that there will be any solution of this problem by the commission which is still in session at Atlantic City. Unofficial reports that the Mexicans want a loan on the strength of agreeing on a border contract with the Americans, seems far off. Officials say that it looks like a club held over their heads to secure the loan and savors too much of international blackmail to suit the American people.

GERMANY TAKES EXCEPTION TO NORWAY

Another Note on That Country's Stand on the Submarine Question.

(Special to The Herald)

Amsterdam, Nov. 13.—It was reported here today that Germany has decided to send another note to Norway on the submarine question. Germany is understood to be taking a stand that Norway is discriminating against Germany in the submarine question.

GARFIELD MENTIONED FOR CABINET

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 13.—Leaders of the Progressive wing of the Democratic party were authority today for the statement that President Harry A. Garfield of Williams College is being considered as a member of the new cabinet to be formed after President Wilson's inauguration. It is said that the subject was discussed informally by the President last week.

BERLIN REPORTS REPULSE OF ATTACKS

Artillery Check All British-French Attacks Along the Somme.

(Special to The Herald)

Berlin, Nov. 13.—German artillery was effective in breaking down British and French attacks on the Somme river during Sunday and last night. The German war office announced the repulse of the Allies on the entire front and in the Upper Alsace. There was heavy fighting about Salisat and on the high ground dominating Pieri-Bass woods.

HUGHES' LEAD BUT 250

Vote of Soldiers Cause a Cut in Republican Vote in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 13.—Hughes' lead in Minnesota has been cut down to 250. The vote of the state soldiers on the border has caused this. The latest figures are Hughes 178,819; Wilson 178,562.

PRESIDENT GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Wilson called Secretary Lansing for a conference this forenoon which is thought to be for the purpose of getting action on the diplomatic questions which have been held up by the national election.

ALLIES START A GRAND ATTACK

Concerted Movement On All Fronts Reported—Furious Fighting in Dobrudja

A fresh series of concerted attacks against the German allies has been launched on three fronts and engagements on a grand scale have developed along the Danube where Von Mackensen's army is fighting for a strangle-hold on eastern Rumania. Unofficial advice is that the German allies have been compelled to retreat in disorder, but they are not borne out by the official statement. The German war office admits that the armies are in contact and that Czernavoda has been shelled, but makes no admission of retreat.

On the Macedonian front the Serbians attacked all day Sunday. In a renewal of their drive on Monastir and gained some ground northeast of Polog, but the Bulgarian war office claims that their main positions were maintained. The French war office reports that the Bulgarians and Germans in that district were driven back two miles. There has been furious fighting on the Somme front during the past thirty-six hours, the French war office claiming to have captured all of Salles south of Bapaume. This is denied in Berlin.

London, Nov. 13.—Russian soldiers fighting with the Rumanians have crossed the Danube at two points and are now engaged with Von Mackensen's German allies in the Dobrudja, says a Rome wireless dispatch today. Both crossings were south of the bridge at Czernavoda and they threaten the rear of the German forces.

Berlin, Nov. 13.—Russian and Rumanian forces backed by artillery have shelled from the western bank of the Danube, Czernavoda, now being held by the German forces under Von Mackensen. The German war office in reporting the attacks do not mention any retreat. If this be true then the Russian have heavy artillery for they must be shelling across not only the Danube, but the vast stretch of swamps that are on the western side of the river. The Czernavoda bridge is eleven miles long, the longest bridge in the world. It is on a great pier across the Danube and then over the miles of swamp land. In the report of the Rumanian retreat it was said that the bridge was blown up, but it is understood that only a few spans of the river were destroyed. The war office reports gains made by the Germans in Northern Rumania, having gained ground in the Rhipenthurm pass and along the Szuruk valley where the Austro-Germans have captured a mountain top. In the region of Orsova the Austro-Germans repulsed attacks and captured 1000 prisoners.

RAILROAD MEN MAKE STRIKE THREAT

Do Not Care What Supreme Court Thinks of the Adamson Law.

(Special to The Herald)

New York, Nov. 13.—Unless the railroads of the country put an eight-hour day into operation by the first day of January, 1917, the 500,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Workers will strike. There was a conference of the officers of the Brotherhood at New York this morning and President R. G. Lee who presided, issued a statement after the meeting in which he said: "We do not care whether the Adamson law is declared constitutional or not by the supreme court, unless the railroads of this country put into operation an eight-hour day, look for a strike. The vote of the Brotherhood made last summer still gives us the power to call a nation-wide strike and this time we will do it."

KILLED THE WHOLE FAMILY

(Special to The Herald)

Dudley, Mass., Nov. 13.—Frank Dion, a former tax collector, and retired attorney and farmer of this town, shot and killed his son, Robert, his son's wife, Lena, and then himself, this forenoon. Dion had been drinking heavily of late and he had long held hard feelings against his son for his marriage. They lived together on a big farm.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS WANT MORE PAY

Ask That $1500 Be Made the Maximum Pay Instead of $1200.

The National A. F. of L. Federation of Postoffice Clerks, at its monthly meeting at the Quincey House, Boston, on Sunday, adopted a resolution upon the incoming congress to pass a new salary reclassification act for the purpose of increasing the maximum of postal clerks of the country to $1600 a year.

The resolution points out that the present maximum of $1200 a year, which has been in force for the past ten years, was predicted on conditions that prevailed at that time. Since that maximum was established, the resolution declares, the cost of living has increased in leaps and bounds so that a clerk with a family now finds it next to impossible to meet his actual obligations let alone save for the proverbial "rainy day". A second resolution adopted asks legislation to eliminate or reduce to a maximum night work.

NO CHANGES IN PRESIDENT'S CABINET

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield with the consent of President Wilson today announced that there would not be any changes in the President's cabinet after the fourth of March. He said: "The President's cabinet will remain the same after March 4 as at present."

MONSTER PARADE HELD FOR WILSON'S VICTORY

Democrats of Portsmouth and Vicinity to the Number of Over 1,000 Made Fine Showing Saturday Night

With more than 1000 men in line the Democrats on Saturday evening celebrated their recent victory at the polls with a monster parade, followed by the serving of refreshments on the playgrounds. The parade was one of the most striking political events of the season and in addition to the members of the party in this city large delegations were present from the surrounding towns. The marchers made a fine appearance with their red, blue, yellow and white bunting, flags and thousands of people turned out to watch and cheer. The large number of men in line was an agreeable surprise to even the most enthusiastic members of the committee having the affair in charge and the success of the celebration was particularly gratifying.

The entire line of march was lined with people watching the parade and many of the houses were decorated and illuminated. The parade was headed by Major Channing B. Hoyt, C. A. C., N. H. N. G., as chief marshal and Lieutenant William H. Naylor, C. A. C., N. H. N. G., and Edward H. Weeks, as aids. It was divided into five divisions, the first having more than 600 all members of the Portsmouth delegation, three divisions composed of delegations from the surrounding towns, and the fifth division composed of automobiles containing the democratic members of the city government and Democratic ex-mayors of Portsmouth. Each of the visiting delegations were headed by one of their number carrying an illuminated banner bearing the name of their town and in each the number of men was surprising. Two bands, the Portsmouth City Band and the Naval Band, in addition to the Little Bowery Pipe and Drum Corps, furnished enough military music to arouse all the enthusiasm necessary to make the parade a success.

The parade started at 8.15 on time to the minute at Market Square, marched up Congress street to Ballington to Bartlett, counter-marched on Bartlett to Cass, through Cass to Middle to State, to Pleasant, and down Pleasant to Parrot avenue and to the playgrounds, where the lines were broken. A collation was served at the playgrounds.

The second division, with A. O. Goodwin officiating as marshal, was headed by the Pipe and Drum Corps and was composed of the Kittery delegation. Division three, headed by James W. Fiddham with the Naval Band, was from New Castle. The fourth division included the delegations from Rye, Greenland, Newington North Hampton, Stratham, Eliot, York and Dover. Senator-elect Calvin Page, Mayor Ladd, and the Democratic members of the city government and Democratic ex-mayors, made up the fifth division.

As the parade moved through the streets the smoke and the red light caused by the torches carried by the marchers, gave one the impression of a great conflagration. It was an inspiring and novel sight, and to those taking part, it meant much more than a political parade; it was their celebration for a country-wide victory, in which they had taken an important part.

SOME UNDERLYING FACTS OF THE CAR SHORTAGE

The present car shortage, the most serious which has ever occurred in this country, is attributed by the Railway Age Gazette, in an editorial in its current issue, to the system of regulation which has been in force for the last ten years. The freight car situation is deplorable. But it is more accurate to say that the situation with reference to facilities in general is deplorable. The railways get all the blame. They cannot deliver cars to the shipper when they do not have the cars. They cannot get the cars until the manufacturers have built them. The cars cannot be built until they have been ordered, and they cannot be ordered until the railways have money with which to pay for them. For the last few months they have been getting the money and they are ordering the cars. But it takes time to build cars, and not enough of them are on the rails as yet to do much good. Up to fifteen months ago it would have been easy to get cars built without delay; but then the railways did not have money enough to buy them.

"The essential vice in the policy of regulation," says the Railway Age Gazette, "which causes it to contribute toward the development of such conditions is that it so controls the rates of the railways that most of them do not in fact years earn enough money to tide them over the lean years. Consequently, in the lean years their expenditures for maintenance, and for improvements and increases of facilities, are restricted to the utmost in order to keep them out of bankruptcy, and they cannot in the fat years make large enough expenditures for maintenance and large enough investments in improvements to offset the heavy retrenchments made in the lean years. A policy which does not recognize the fact, as our policy of regulation does not, that every industry has to go through bad as well as good years, but which on the contrary is predicated on the assumption that rates which are barely sufficient for prosperous years will be sufficient at any time, is bound at frequent intervals to give rise to such conditions as those with which the country is now struggling."

"The changes which have taken place in the car situation are, perhaps, best indicated by the increases which have occurred in the number of freight cars in service and in their tonnage capacity. The statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the tonnage capacity of cars begin with the year 1903. The period from 1903 up to the pause in October, 1907, was one of rapidly-increasing business and large purchases of equipment. Most of the vast number of cars ordered in 1907 were delivered in the fiscal year ended on June 30, 1908. Therefore, the five-year period, from 1903 to 1908, affords an instructive basis for comparison. The increase in the total number of freight cars in service in that five years was 436,520 and the increase in their tonnage capacity was 24,183,351 tons. Since then the railways have had some years of good business, but most of them have been bad, and therefore there was a heavy decline in the orders for equipment. This is reflected in the statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Between the end of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1908, and the end of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1915, the increase in the total number of freight cars in service was only 225,003. This was 206,517 less than it was in the preceding five years. The increase in the tonnage capacity of the cars in service was only 13,318,787 tons. This was 4,814,564 tons less than it was in the preceding five years.

"In spite of the fact that the increases in the number and capacity of freight cars in the seven years ended with 1915 were much less than in the preceding years, this latter period of seven years was almost constantly one of enormous car surpluses. Even as late as August 1, 1915, the net surplus of freight cars in the United States was 264,213. Then with amazing suddenness came the big increase in traffic with which the railways have been struggling ever since."

"The statistics of the Railway Age Gazette show that in the first ten months of the calendar year 1916 they ordered 53,323 cars. In the week ended November 4, 1916, all records for the year were broken when the orders for freight cars aggregated 15,013."

"Unfortunately," says the Gazette, "the number of cars now being ordered is no indication of the rapidly with which the present acute situation will be relieved. In the first place the manufacturers are so deluged with orders that it will be many months before they will be able to fill those they already have, and, in the second place, the present trouble is not merely a shortage of cars, but a shortage of transportation facilities of all kinds. The term 'car shortage' is now, as always, merely a misnomer used to describe a condition resulting from the inability of the roads to supply facilities enough of any kind to handle the business available."

"It is a significant coincidence that the country is confronted with the worst car shortage and congestion of traffic in its history just when the Newlands committee is getting ready to begin its investigation of the entire subject of regulation of railways. The best evidence of the need for this investigation is the present traffic situation. PLANNING A BIG CONVENTION

Tri-County Laymen's Convention to Include Rockingham, Strafford and Carroll Counties.

Arrangements for the Tri-County Laymen's Convention which will be held at St. John's Methodist church, Dec. 10-12, Dover, have been almost completed. Chairman Frank H. Damon of the arrangements committee announced that the program for the affair had been arranged. There are to be nine principal speakers. Fred B. Fisher who has charge of the convention is the general secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the United States and Canada. Hon. George R. Jones, a Boston attorney and ex-member of the Massachusetts legislature, who has served as president of the Massachusetts senate is now chairman of the New England committee of the Laymen's Missionary movement.

Among the other speakers will be Hubert C. Herring, D. D. of Boston, general secretary of the national council of the Congregational churches, and as such, is chief administrative officer of that denomination; George Heber Jones, D. Birge, who comes from Smyrna, Turkey; Frederick A. Agar who is Methodist secretary of the five year convention and is author of the church finance, and Silas D. Parsons, D. D., 26 years pastor of the Presbyterian church in Cazenovia, N. Y.

"The singing of the convention will be in charge of Ernest W. Naffziger, who has been a leader and soloist in the Chapman and Alexander evangelistic campaigns. The convention will start Sunday morning, Dec. 10. There will be services in the morning, afternoon and evening of the three days' convention. The executive committee in charge of the convention is as follows:

Cross, Dover; treasurer and chairman committee on finance, William E. Woods, Dover; chairman committee on statistics, Joseph Pierce, Dover; chairman committee on prayer, Asa Lowe, Dover; Louis W. Flanders, M. D., ex-Mayor Dwight Hall, both of Dover; John Young, Rochester; Lyford A. Morrow, Ossipee; Ernest W. Fiekey, Wolfboro; Charles P. Bates, Exeter, and Frank E. Leavitt, Portsmouth. The convention will be composed chiefly of registered delegates. Probably more than 400 men in Dover will be registered delegates. The purpose of the convention is to increase the interest in church work among the men of the three counties of Strafford, Carroll and Rockingham.

"THE CINDERELLA MAN" AT THE WILBUR

Winning and wholesome and wholly delightful, as New York audiences at the Hudson theatre attested all last winter, is "The Cinderella Man," which, under the direction of Oliver Morosco comes to the Wilbur Theatre on Monday, Nov. 13. This dainty comedy from the pen of Edward Childs Carpenter, is as refreshing as a day in spring, yet full of life, love and laughter. It is perfectly staged and the cast is the same as appeared in the New York run.

Marjorie Canner, the principal character in the play, is a girl with wealthy parents. During her babyhood the parents separate and the girl is reared abroad under the care of her mother. At the mother's death the girl returns to the father she has never known, only to find him a cold, factious man of big business with whom she can find nothing in common.

A girlish prank, inspired by some verses that have reached her, takes her to the cold garret of the poet who is sacrificing everything in the way of creature comforts for the fame he is sure eventually will be his. He is proud and never would be patronized by a girl of wealth, so his visitor passes herself off as the companion of the rich girl she really is.

Charmingly the romance works itself out so that in the end both fame and money come to the poet, who finds out the identity of his visitor, and both discover that they are absolutely necessary to each other's happiness.

The same cast that appeared at the Hudson Theatre, New York, last season, including Shelley Hull, Phoebe Foster, Frank Bacon, Reginald Mason, Theodore Babcock, Herton Churchhill, Charles Lane, Percival T. Moore, Hubert Wilke, and Louise Riel will interpret this delightful comedy here.

In addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees, there will be an extra matinee on Monday, Nov. 13th.

JOHN W. VOGEL AND "JAPLAND"

John W. Vogel, "The Minstrel King" has been responsible for a great many stage creations, but his latest stipulator of curiosity seems to have aroused a responsive chord in the minds of theatre-goers as no other theatrical offering has succeeded in doing. Mr. Vogel is at the helm of the good ship "Japland," an operatic minstrel farce-comedy, the very newest thing in stagedom, exploiting a limited portion of modern minstrelsy, a gaudy allotment of farce and one complete act of grand and comic opera, the whole requiring the united services of John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels, complete caste for opera and the lovely, inevitable girl chorus. There is a certain charm to minstrelsy, yet the absence of the jollity and delight imparted by a following bunch of talented and beautiful show girls lessens the fascination. That is why Mr. Vogel ordered "Japland." He wanted that one something that would satisfy the eye and ear of every theatre-goer. He wanted the tuneful melodies from the operas; the satisfying dressing, singing and dancing of a feminine contingent and the wonderful harmony and great volume of the combined voices in his Minstrels. "Japland" finds a way for the great ensemble of the two sexes without doing away with minstrelsy, therefore Mr. Vogel is thankful for the thought that suggested the gratifying alliance, gratifying not alone to Mr. Vogel, but to crowded theatre everywhere, that fact, too, being pleasing to the captain of the good ship "Japland" which will cast anchor at the Portsmouth Theatre tonight for one performance. The seats are now on sale.

ANOTHER MOVE IN CARPENTER CASE

Father Seeks to Have Probate Court Make His Mother Custodian of His Boy.

Major Ralph G. Carpenter, through his attorney, William J. Britton of Wolfeboro, has filed with the probate court of Carroll county papers asking that his mother, Mrs. George A. Carpenter, be appointed legal custodian of his son. The papers have also been served on his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Paul Carpenter, who recently won her fight to have the decree of divorce previously granted her husband vacated.

The case will be contested by Mrs. Carpenter who in turn will demand the custody of the boy, Ralph G. Carpenter, Jr., who was taken from her about a year ago. Mrs. Carpenter bases her claim for the custody of the child on the decision of Judge Rival vacating the divorce decree. She is now living at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Paul, 862 Beacon street, Boston.

Judge Sewell Abbott has set the date for a hearing at Sanbornville as December 5.

BRITISH WIN 1,000 YARD FRONT IN SOMME REGION

London, Saturday.—The War Office announces that Prussian trenches over a front of 1,000 yards on the Somme front were stormed last night by the British. The positions captured formed the eastern portion of the trenches captured on October 21.

Tonight's official communication says that some sixty prisoners, including four officers, were taken as a result of last night's successful attacks.

There was again considerable activity in the air yesterday. During the day bombing raids were continued with effect against Prussian billets, aerodromes and headquarters, and at night stations and trains were successfully attacked, two trains being hit by bombs, while a third was set on fire and a number of explosions followed.

In the course of numerous fights in the air three Prussian machines were destroyed and a fourth was forced to land within the British lines. Many others were driven down in damaged conditions. One of the British machines is missing.

Russians at Töpal; Mackensen Retreating.

Petrograd, via London.—Russian troops advancing southward on the right (east) bank of the Danube River yesterday occupied the villages of Ghidardchi and Töpal. Töpal is twelve miles south of Hirsova. In the Dobruja province Russian detachments made a further advance to the southward.

London.—The Russian bombardment of the Roumanian Black Sea port of Constanza is said by Reuters' Petrograd correspondent to have inflicted great damage. Reservoirs of benzine and naphtha were exploded and the resultant fires fanned by the wind spread rapidly and burned for two days. There were no means of controlling the flames as the Roumanians had removed the fire apparatus when they evacuated the city.

The despatch says Bulgarian shoe batteries were silenced and that heavy losses were inflicted on the garrison.

A German aeroplane which attempted to bombard the Russian squadron was brought down. The pilot and the observer were captured.

A Bucharest despatch as forwarded from Rome to the Wireless Press, reports that Field Marshal von Mackensen's retreat in the Dobruja is continuing and that the Bulgarian population is fleeing from the Dobruja to Bulgaria.

The despatch says great fires have been observed in the direction of Cernavoda and Constanta the terminus of the railroad between the Black Sea and the Danube, and that it is thought possible these towns have been set on fire preparatory to their evacuation by the Prussian forces.

More Ground Gained by Italian Advance

Rome, via London.—Some further ground has been gained by the Italians in the operation of straightening out the front of their advance on the Carso Plateau, south of Gorizia, the War Office announced today. Bad weather has interfered with the activity along the entire Austro-Italian front. The official statement reads:

"On the Carso, between Monte Falli and Castavrazza, our infantry, straightened out the front, advancing about nine hundred yards. In the ground occupied two additional 6-inch guns, with a plentiful supply of ammunition, were taken. In a large cave, used as a barracks, the enemy had abandoned numerous wounded only 13 of whom were found alive."

PROPOSED S. OF V. CAMP VISITED BY STATE OFFICERS

An enthusiastic meeting of those interested in the organization of a camp of the Sons of Veterans in this city was held Friday evening in G. A. R. hall, Judge Edward H. Adams presiding. There was a good attendance and much encouraging progress was reported.

Four division officers were present and made interesting addresses, all of which were received with hearty applause. The first to speak was Division Commander J. Kirkwood Craig of Somers, who made a fine address, dwelling upon the principles of the Sons of Veterans and speaking eloquently of the great work they must carry on when the veterans had passed to their reward. Mr. Craig is a very finished speaker and his remarks made a deep impression.

Commander Craig was followed by Junior Senior Vice Commander Oscar Davis of Alton. Mr. Davis spoke in a convincing manner and his audience realized that he put his heart and soul into the work. He impressed upon them that each one, in being a son of a veteran, had received a priceless heritage; one that many would gladly purchase if such a thing were possible, but one that money could not buy, and of the importance of banding together in recognition of this and to carry on the work that the fathers must soon lay down.

The third speaker was Junior Vice Commander Stewart E. Rowe of Exeter. Mr. Rowe's abilities as an orator are well known in this vicinity and he lived up to his reputation, speaking eloquently on the aims and principles of the Sons of Veterans. Mr. Rowe concluded his talk with an interesting poem of his own composition entitled "The Boys of '61."

Division Organizer Johnson of Raymond was next called upon and gave much valuable information regarding the method of procedure in organizing a new camp. Mr. Johnson has been a member of the Sons of Veterans for the past 30 years, first becoming identified with the organization while a resident of Indiana, and is probably more familiar with the work of the body than any other man in the state. He gave all of the necessary information last night and readily answered any question asked in regard to forming the camp.

Remarks were also made by Commander M. H. Bell and Comrades Paul, Whitehouse and Tucker of Storer Post, G. A. R., Judge F. H. Adams and Frank N. Walker. The next meeting will be held in G. A. R. Hall on the evening of Nov. 23, and it is thought that at that time all will be ready for the institution of the camp.

NORWICH UNIVERSITY NOTES

First Vermont Cavalry Veterans Meet at Norwich University

Thursday, Nov. 9th was a big day at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. The Vermont Cavalry Reunion Society held its forty-fourth annual meeting at Northfield as guests of the university. This society last spring presented a fine steel flag-staff, flag, and bronze presentation tablet to the university in the place of a wooden pole which had blown down during the winter. This staff has for a base a large granite boulder through which the staff enters the ground. This boulder holds the bronze presentation tablet. On the tablet is a brief record of the regiment. The First Vermont Cavalry was mustered into service November 19, 1861. The total number to enlist in this regiment was 2304. The regiment served in Sheridan's cavalry corps, Custer's division, Wells brigade and division, Army of the Potomac. They participated in 76 battles and combats during the war, and were mustered out August 9, 1865 with a loss of 322 men.

Thursday forenoon was taken up with automobile trips about the university grounds and surrounding country. At two o'clock in the afternoon the formal dedication and presentation of the staff, flag, and tablet took place. On one side of the staff were the veterans, on the other side the corps of cadets. General Peck of Burlington, acting for the society, presented the gifts to Colonel Reeves, president of the university. The tablet, which had been covered by the flag, was unveiled and the flag hoisted while the field music sounded the "Color." President Reeves then accepted the gifts in a short address. He said in part that it was very fitting that the cavalry regiment which had made the best record of any regiment in the civil war should present such a gift to the oldest military institution of the country outside of West Point, an institution which was not only the oldest but which had never been excelled by any other military institution in its nearly a century of existence. Norwich is also a cavalry organization. He was sure that the tablet inscribed with the record of the old regiment would ever be an inspiration to the cadets of the university.

After the presentation ceremony the corps of cadets was reviewed by the veterans, after which they witnessed exhibition drills both of infantry and cavalry. The business meeting of the association was held immediately afterward in the chapel room of Dewey hall. The hall had been decorated in red, white, and blue by members of the university faculty. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Frank H. Ketchum of Randolph, Vt.; Secretary, S. H. Wood of St. Albans, Vt.; Treasurer, Fred A. Lewis of Northfield, Vt.

In the evening a banquet was held in the parlors of the Congregational church, attended by the veterans, faculty, and seniors of the university, together with other guests. About sixty sat down to supper. After the banquet the annual camp-fire took place and lasted until about nine-thirty o'clock. Among the principle speakers were General Peck of Burlington, Vt.; Col. J. W. Renett of Melrose, Mass.; Col. Reeves, Major Tompkins whose father was at one time colonel of the regiment, and Alfred S. Hall of Boston. Mr. Hall's brother, Josiah Hall, was the last colonel of the regiment. During the evening a framed picture of Colonel Hall was presented by Dr. Ed. R. Campbell and son of Montpelier to the society. This picture is to be kept in the halls of Norwich University.

IS WORLD TRIP BETTER THAN COLLEGE

(By C. E. Thwing, President of Western Reserve University.)

A son writes me saying, "My father has offered me the opportunity of going to college or of going around the world with a private tutor. The voyage around the world it is supposed, will occupy about a year. Which do you think I ought to accept?"

It is very easy for me to answer my friend, for the voyage around the world means a year and the voyage through college means four years. But the time relation is only one side of the problem.

A trip around the world does have of course great value. It gives a certain knowledge of the world. It relates intellectual values. It stores the memory, it enriches the imagination. It fills the intellect with pictures. It makes a constant appeal to the intellectual eye. It represents the "movie" in which the man himself is the "movie." It does give some notion of what this little world has been; and may become.

But he it said that, to the boy of 19 the world voyage does not touch the fundamental elements of character. He is not able to appreciate the deepest things that make up civilization. He is not able to understand the "movements," the elements, the tides and the forces that constitute a nation's essential life. He does not in his journeying meet the great men who are the leaders and the shepherds of the people. He comes back essentially what he was. He brings back what he carries. His intellectual life becomes disciplined, it is disciplined. It is a most irregular form and fashion. His social conduct may become more facile, but it is liable to lack in dignity.

A journey around the world does not give five things which are of the highest importance and which the college should give. They are First—The power to think, to reason, to judge, to weigh evidence, to reach the proper conclusion from complex and divergent facts. Second—The power to investigate, which is essentially the application of the power of thinking. Third—the power of mental concentration. Travelling is often a dissipation of mental energy; college represents its use in mass-formation. Fourth—Friendships. Travelling results in making many acquaintances, but few friends. Friendships form one of the priceless results of four years of living together in a college. Fifth—Preparation for something worthy after. Travelling is so often a blind alley; it opens nowhere. College is life in and of itself, but it is more a preparation for life. It is a guide-board to the road in the future, or, perhaps, it is a strength ending of one's feet for walking any road which the will may select.

GIANT TELESCOPE FOR COLUMBIAN MOUNTAINS

Victoria, British Columbia, Nov. 12.—A six-foot reflecting telescope, with the exception of the one on Mount Wilson in California, the largest instrument to observe the heavens ever constructed, is being set up on Little Spanish Mountain, a few miles from here.

The movable parts weigh forty tons and the dome inside which it is housed is seventy-five feet high and sixty-six feet in diameter.

The steel framework of the dome is designed to permit free circulation of air, so that changes in temperature cannot alter the shape of the mirror. The dome is revolved by seven electric motors.

It is hoped the new telescope will solve the mystery of the so-called canals on the planet Mars.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ROCKINGHAM COUNTY FARMERS' ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Rockingham County Farmers' Association will be held on Monday, November 20, 1916 at 10.00 a. m. in the Ioka Theatre, Exeter. This meeting is the most important meeting of the entire year, and every member, officer and farmer of the county should attend.

A very attractive program has been prepared as follows:

Forenoon session 10.00 a. m.—Report of the Officers. Report of the County Agent. Election of Officers for 1917.

Lunch; coffee will be served free.

Afternoon session 1 p. m.—Address W. A. Lloyd of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Moving pictures—Cow testing work, forest preservation, road construction and maintenance.

Address M. G. Wilson, New Hampshire County Agent Leader.

The officers and county agent will have especially interesting reports to make on the activities of the association this past year, and plans for next year. The present county agent has resigned and his successor is now being chosen. County agent work has come to stay in Rockingham County, and every farmer should come to this meeting and help boost.

The two afternoon speakers are worth travelling miles to hear. Mr. Lloyd has charge of the county agent work in all of the northern and western states, while Mr. Wilson has supervision of it in this state. Both men will say things worth while. The moving pictures have been supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture, and are both educational and entertaining.

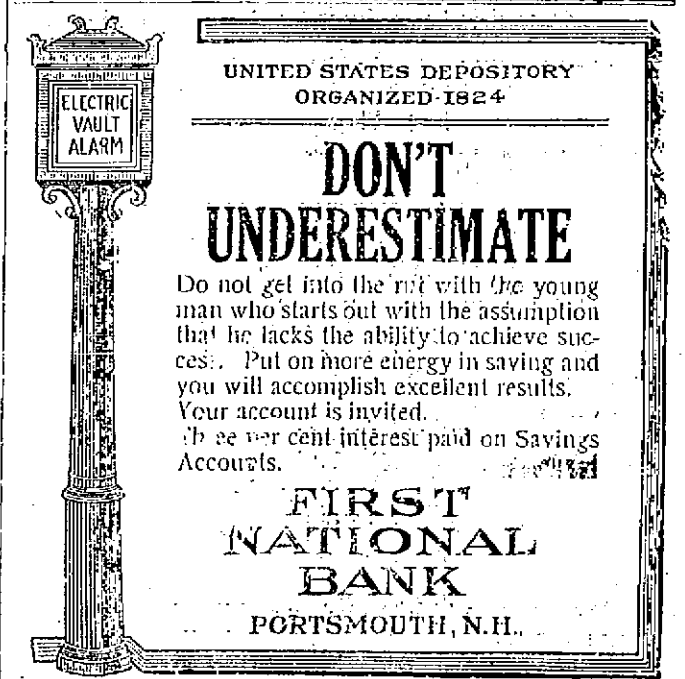

Personal notices of this meeting are being sent to all of the members of the association. The general public is also invited, both men and women. It has been a long time since such a good program has been presented for the farmers in this county, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of their opportunities.

Hands Off!

Under the caption, "Home Rule for America" this paper recently commented upon the proposition in an eastern state to enact a uniform building law which would apply to every city in the state. This paper took the ground that such a law would be undesirable, for the reason that any city should know its needs with regard to building regulations better than anybody else, and that the principle of centralizing government and regulation of all sorts, toward which there is too pronounced a drift today, is wrong. This paper is a strong believer in local self-government. It believes there are many matters which can be better attended to by the towns and the cities than by the states and the federal government.

It believes that the establishment of building regulations is one of these matters, and it is by no means alone in this conviction. The mayors of the cities of the state in which this uniform building law is proposed held a meeting a few days ago and unanimously placed themselves on record against it. They objected to the principle of having their local affairs regulated from the outside, and their objection was valid. One mayor said that his city "would be foolish to allow the rights and powers given to it under the enabling act, which brought about the creation of the department here, to be taken away without a fight." And that the other mayors agreed with him was proved by the fact that they stood unanimously against the proposed law.

And where did the proposition come from? From a "recess committee," of course. A number of members of the Legislature were provided with good jobs by being appointed to this committee, and to show that their time and pay were not wholly wasted they had to do something. And so the committee gave birth to the proposition that all the cities of the state should be placed under a uniform building law.

The incident illustrates a growing evil, that of appointing recess committees of legislatures to nose about the states between sessions and look for something to do. In order to justify their existence they feel that it is necessary to recommend something, and from these sources come all sorts of foolish propositions.

This paper repeats what it has many times said, that what this country needs is fewer laws and better enforcement.

It is reported that a weekly paper is to be established in St. Louis by the Episcopal church in an attempt to preach the gospel through the press. Whether the venture will succeed remains to be seen. The press is by far the most potent means of reaching the people, but most readers of the papers, while they want the truth, are not looking for the gospel in the columns of their favorite "sheets."

A Chicago man has resigned his citizenship on the ground that he is an anarchist, and it is understood that the resignation is to be accepted by setting aside the man's certificate of naturalization. No anarchist can be a good citizen, but it will have to be admitted that this man comes nearer to it than most of his kind by realizing that fact. His resignation should be accepted promptly and with thanks.

The high cost of living in Europe is troubling the representatives of the United States government there, and there is an appeal for relief. Under the circumstances this should be provided, notwithstanding the fact that most of our representatives abroad are financially fixed so as not to be seriously crippled by the cost of living there or at home.

There are foxes and foxes. A Vermont hunter shot one the other day which he sold for $3.50. It turned out to be a silver gray and the man who bought it without suspecting the value of his bargain at the time sold it for $385. If he is what he ought to be he will go back and "whack up" with the hunter, to a reasonable extent at least.

The son of an Irish baronet, one of the chiefs of the British recruiting staff, who is now visiting in this country, says a draw in the war would be better than a knock-out. But his government does not see it that way, and it is to be questioned whether the people of the world do.

The railroads and the trainmen are still wondering just what the effect of the Adamson eight-hour law is to be. It will be known in due time and then it will be easier for all classes to judge of the wisdom or unwisdom of its enactment.

A residence in Virginia built by George Washington in 1772 has been destroyed by fire. This is bad but the old Mt. Vernon homestead still stands as one of the sacred shrines of America.

THE LABOR CONVENTION NOW IN FULL SWING

A. F. of L. Open Annual Meeting in Baltimore—International Union Failed.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13.—The thirty-sixth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened here today with more than one thousand delegates from forty-five states in attendance. President Samuel Gompers in his opening address, told of the steady growth of the national federation, the creation of many new councils during the year having brought together a larger voting representation than had ever before been assembled by organized labor.

Addresses of welcome by city and state officers with responses by several officers, were followed by the reading of the annual report of the executive council by Vice President James Duncan. Mr. Duncan prefaced the report with a speech dealing with organized labor's economic power.

Secretary Frank Morrison's report showed a membership of 2,972,702, an increase of 126,356 members during the year. The report stated that there are now 21,711 local unions in the 111 national and international unions and 705 local trade bodies and federal labor unions directly affiliated with the federation. The membership reported, it was stated, does not include all the members involved in strikes and lockouts, or those who were unemployed during the year, and from whom a per capita tax was not collected. The delegates attending the convention are this year entitled to a voting strength of 21,306, as compared with 20,433 a year ago. Mr. Morrison reported that total receipts from all sources during the year was $334,275. At the end of the fiscal year there was a balance of $131,360, on hand. Affiliated unions during the year paid out $2,254,610 in death benefits and $1,063,609 in sick benefits.

Concerning the rejection by the British trade unions council of the proposal of the American Federation of Labor for the holding of an international labor conference at the time and place when representatives of the various governments shall meet for the purpose of determining conditions of peace and entering into a treaty, President Gompers said before the convention a resolution unanimously adopted by the executive council. The resolution read:

"Since the first proposal submitted by the A. F. of L. to the labor organizations of Europe has been definitely rejected by them, we suggest that the organized labor movements of these countries that shall participate in the general peace conference to determine terms and conditions of peace at the close of the war, shall urge upon their respective governments that the wage-earners shall be represented in an official commission from their respective countries. The same policy ought to be pursued also by organized labor movements of neutral countries if it shall be determined that neutral countries also will participate in the general peace congress. Thus representatives of wage-earners would be seated with other representatives of the nations in general conferences connected with the formulation of peace terms. In this way the ideas and needs of wage-earners could be presented and considered by the general official body."

President Gompers explained that abandonment of the proposition had followed not only the rejection of the British trade unionists, but the opinion expressed by President Legien of the Federated Trades Unions of Germany that such a movement at this time would be of doubtful practicality. Mr. Gompers explained that the resolution later adopted by the executive council was framed because of the tremendous importance of the plan and of the "infinite and boundless influence that a representation of wage-earners could have upon the deliberations of a World Peace Congress."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Aftermath
(Boston Post, Nov. 11)

There would not be space within the limits of this page for a discussion of the various factors that appeared responsible for the re-election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency of the United States. But a few thoughts of the aftermath variety are not difficult to express.

One of our neighbors has expressed surprise at the President's victory in the face of the fact that he has not the kind of "popularity" expressed by Clay, Blaine and Roosevelt. But that very lack was one of the reasons, in this year of the world. The American people were not after "popularity" in this campaign. That blatant kind of thing has about run its course in the demands of statesmanship. The people have enough of it, cut any figure whatever. The nation looked beyond the more surface. It saw a man in office and it kept him there.

Also gone into the duckers is the action that the alleged 4,000,000 women voters of the country were going to beat Mr. Wilson because he had not declared for a federal suffrage amendment as had Mr. Hughes. But note the result. Of the 12 states in which women vote for President, 10 were carried by Mr. Hughes. As The Post maintained long since, the woman vote is not to be delivered to anybody simply because his opponent offends certain suffragists.

The German influence on the election is more difficult to trace. It may have helped carry Illinois, Wisconsin, and New York for Hughes, but Ohio is an example to the country. At all events, the hyphenates were not strong enough to beat the man their newspapers had unanimously denounced. Or, perhaps they were strong enough, but they would not cast their votes according to any formula of Berlin. That is a far better thought.

President Wilson was re-elected because he was President Wilson, nothing more nor less. The Republicans chose to make him the sole issue. They attacked him at every point of his accomplishments. Nothing that he has done in all his career of terrible responsibilities was right, they said. He was wrong even in motive. He was eternally weak, vacillating and inept. So they roared up and down the land for months.

Those chronic fault-finders beat themselves. By their very assaults, they called attention to the President's great accomplishments, international and domestic. If a lot of people keep on shouting in concert that the moon is made of green cheese, a great many people will thereupon look at the moon and decide that it is not made of green cheese. The enemy so persistently howled that Mr. Wilson's record was bad, that they influenced the people to look at that record more carefully than they otherwise would have, and decide that it was good.

We believe that President Wilson's achievements for humanity and progress have only just begun. Why may he not now have the support and approval of the man who have lately been against him politically, just as so many Democrats were able to hold up the hands of Mr. Hughes when they believed he had been elected? Let us have a new era of good feeling. The times are ripe for it.

VAUDEVILLE NOTES.

Today marks the re-opening of the vaudeville season at the Colonial Theatre.

A feature that the new management of the Colonial Theatre announces is the daily bargain matinee; 10 and 20 cents will admit to the orchestra section. Either price provides a choice seat location.

One of today's headlines is The Grand Japanese Troupe, one of the most renowned features from the land of the Rising Sun. They are real wonder workers and you will marvel at their skill.

Ladies should become familiar with the refined vaudeville programs that the Colonial Theatre now offers.

Picture yourself side-tracked in a cross roads station on the Santa Fe R. R. This is what happens to a newly married couple as you will quickly see when you witness "The Hermit," the vaudeville comedy dramatic playlet that will be presented tonight at the Colonial Theatre by Spencer Charters & Co., which includes Irene Myers, nick-named the "oldest youngest actress" on the American stage.

There will be two performances to-night at The Colonial, at 7 and 9.45. "The Rupe and the Girl," an up-to-date laughing act that will be delivered by Dodge and Lawell tonight at the Colonial, will surely set you in good nature. They sure bring the laughs to the surface.

From the South Sea Isles far away comes the Hawaiian Duo, who are at the Colonial the first three days of this week. Sweet singers with a repertoire of popular song numbers, they should find no difficulty in pleasing local theatre goers.

Up in the air, performing thrilling feats, is the life work of Eugene Davis, one of the foremost aerialists in this country. See him tonight at the Colonial.

COMMERCIAL BODIES TO DISCUSS CONTINUOUS RAILROAD SERVICE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Reflecting the interest of the country at large are resolutions coming into Washington from trade bodies requesting further action by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on the railroad situation. The requests are a forerunner of a meeting of the Chamber's National Council to be held in Washington the latter part of next week at which there promises to be a vigorous discussion of all phases of the railroad controversy including proposed anti-strike legislation.

In addition to the national council meeting November 17 and 18 provision has been made by the national chamber for a committee to study the railroad problem in all phases pursued by the joint congressional committee of which Senator Newlands is the chairman and which is to convene in Washington on November 20.

The petitions from trade organizations appear to represent no particular section of the U. S. more than another, and national as well as local bodies are being heard from. Many in response to a broadcast invitation from Railroad Business Association and the New York Merchants' Association to other commercial bodies to join in a request for action by the National Chamber.

The Railway Business association favors an investigation upon correction of defects in the system of railway regulation. They advocate especially that the national government should on behalf of the states regulate instrumentalities of interstate commerce except in those spheres which are distinctively state. Also, that congress in order to keep regulation close to the people, should create regional sub-commissions, appointed by the President and subordinate to the Interstate Commerce Commission, to conduct administration over areas corresponding to traffic movement.

Finally, it is recommended that congress having chosen to leave to private capital the function of providing the people with rail highways, should insure reasonable extensions of such highways into new regions as well as the improvement of existing roads by declaring it by statute the policy of the government to permit such a system of rates as will yield earnings sufficient to attract investment for new construction.

The Merchants' Association of New York has sent to other commercial organizations throughout the country copies of a pamphlet containing the resolutions adopted by the Association in support of the plan for preventing the interruption by strikes of the operation of public utilities, together with an outline by Henry H. Towne of New York, telling how the plan might be carried into effect.

Briefly, it provides for the enforcement of a contractual relation between employers and employees on public utilities. It is suggested not so much as a final solution of this important question, although the Merchants' Association hopes it may prove such a solution, but as a means of bringing the matter forward for discussion. The association has asked the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. to submit the question to its constituent members in the form of a referendum in order that the sentiment of the business men of the country may be ascertained. It has also asked other nations to join in requesting such a referendum.

The Merchants' Association has declared in favor of giving the federal government through the Interstate Commerce Commission, control over railroad rates and regulation within state limits. This would do away with a large number of vexatious matters arising from the conflict between federal and state authorities over lines of transportation. The Merchants' Association is in favor of the federal incorporation of railroads; federal supervision of the issue of securities by interstate carriers; the enlargement of the Interstate Commerce Commission so as to enable it promptly and adequately to perform its functions; and strongly opposes government ownership of public utilities.

Typical of the manner in which commercial organizations all over the country are discussing the railroad situation at the present time is the expression of Charles F. Weed, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. He said:

"Strikes and lockouts must cease. It is my hope that the Boston Chamber of Commerce may assume the leadership in proposing and securing legislation, which will sound the death-knell of strikes and lockouts in public service corporations in Massachusetts. It should also do its part towards securing national legislation to the same end with regard to public service corporations engaged in interstate commerce."

Early indications are that the National Council meeting in Washington will be largely attended.

AND A GOOD ONE

Referring to the Post's rebuke to those who had denounced the President for retaining Mr. Daniels, "the editor of a country newspaper," in his cabinet, the Rochester Courier observes:

We agree with the Boston Post that it is mighty poor politics for Republican writers and speakers to sneer at the secretary of the navy as being a country editor. If there's any occupation in this land that has started more conspicuously successful men on their careers than work in a country newspaper office, we'd like to know what it is. And the influence of these editors if not so widespread as that of their metropolitan brethren, is far greater, oftentimes, in its particular field. Keen political managers nowadays cultivate the friendship of the "country editor" as never before.

As a "country editor" who has made good and is a power in old New Hampshire, Brother McDuffee knows what he is talking about. It was a grave editor in letters for the G. O. P. boxes to antagonize the fraternity. It may have had a little to do with the result, for it was the country vote that re-elected Woodrow Wilson.

SNOW INCH DEEP AT WATERVILLE, ME.

Waterville, Me., Nov. 13.—The first snow storm of the season in this city, commenced about 8.30 o'clock last night and the snow fell so heavily that within hour the ground was covered. It continued to fall during the night to the depth of an inch.

WILSON CARRIES STATE BY 63 VOTES

No Appeal From Official Returns Likely Unless There Is Change in California.

Concord, Nov. 12.—With the definite assurance that President Woodrow Wilson carried New Hampshire, so far as the official returns show, the party leaders in both camps have settled down to watch developments. The final tabulation by Secretary of State Edwin C. Bean gave the President a lead of 63 votes. Naturally, Chairman George E. Farrand of the Democratic state committee will not ask for the recount of which he gave notice on Wednesday, when it appeared that Justice Hughes had won out here.

The final tabulation was:
Wilson, 43,787.
Hughes, 43,724.

Senator Hollis has gone to the Provences for a rest after his campaign labors but he is by no means out of mind in political circles here. Talk is already heard in well informed circles that the senator is likely to be offered a place in the cabinet. Despatches from Washington indicating that several members of President Wilson's board of department heads will retire, has quickened the gossip about the possibility of New Hampshire being awarded one of the seats as an acknowledgment of the appearance of the state in the Wilson column of electoral votes and also of Mr. Hollis' active share in the campaign both in the West and in this state and of the personal friendship of the senator and the President.

Chairman Philip H. Faulkner of the Republican state committee went to his home in Keene for the week-end yesterday and he is not expected back before tonight or Tuesday. It was stated at Republican headquarters today, however, that no statement will be issued concerning the Republican attitude on a recount for several days certainly not until the California vote has been finally determined. That will require a week at least and after that the matter of the recount will be decided by National Chairman Wilcox. There is no need of hasty action as 90 days are allowed in which a recount may be petitioned for, and even after that, if occasion should arise, it will be possible to canvass the state's vote.

MARY PICKFORD HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Sloop Sinks at Marblehead With Movie Artist in Cabin.

Marblehead, Nov. 12.—The taking of a moving picture film featuring Mary Pickford, on the sloop Eddie Minot, back of Marblehead Neck this afternoon nearly resulted in a tragedy. The sloop which was fast on the beach near Castle Rock, was pulled off at high tide this afternoon by two tugs, preparatory to taking the last film. On the sloop were Mary Pickford and her French maid; Maurice Tournier, the director; Matthew Moore, two camera men, John Vanderbrook, Louis Androit and several young men from Marblehead who were to assist in navigating the vessel.

It was intended to sink the sloop so as just to cover the deck and give it buoyancy. A number of empty casks had been placed below deck, but they proved insufficient and as soon as the sloop cleared the beach it began to sink rapidly. Before those on board realized their danger the how went under and there was a wild scramble to the deck-house. A number of fishermen's motor boats were in the vicinity and Director Tournier called on them for aid.

Miss Pickford who was caught in the cabin, was rescued by Christian Hansen and Albert Smith who held her up in the cold waters until taken into the motor boat of Albert Conners. Both men were standing in the water to their shoulders.

Louis Androit who was in the bow of the boat when it started to sink, climbed up the mast with his camera and was rescued by another motor boat. Others taken off were Frank Coates, Robert Kiley, William Hawkes and Ray Buzzell.

The sloop sank in about 25 feet of water and was later lightened and towed into the harbor.

Miss Pickford escaped with a wetting to her knees, but some of the men had to swim until picked up. Hundreds of people witnessed the accident from the shore, but none realized at the time that it was not a part of a prearranged program.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 13.—Three Americans sentenced by the Carranza military authorities were still alive today while efforts were being made to secure their release by their friends on this side of the line.

Albert Errossis, held in jail at Chihuahua on the charge of cattle stealing; Joseph Williams, charged with furnishing General Pershing with beef, and Benjamin Brohn, charged with cattle stealing and being a spy, are the three men under sentence of death. Despite the promises of the Carranza forces that they would remain at Chihuahua and defend the city against Villa, they have apparently deserted the city and are on their way north by special trains.

TAKES HIS OWN
ON SUNDAY

Mr. Hughes and the other candidates on the Republican ticket. It is the opinion of those close to him that the defeat of Mr. Hughes, together with despondency brought on by ill-health, led him to take his life.

At 10.20 o'clock as Mr. Kane was passing the building on Summer street he heard Mr. Phinney call to him from the second story window of the upper hall. He asked Mr. Kane if he would deliver a note to Judge Cuptill and in being assured that Mr. Kane would look after the note he dropped it out of the window. The note was in an envelope and sealed, addressed to Judge Ernest L. Cuptill.

As Mr. Kane crossed the street to recover the note Mr. Phinney again called to him and said, "Good-bye, Kane, I'm going to do it."

"Do what, Bob?" Mr. Kane asked, but without giving any reply Mr. Phinney turned from the window and Mr. Kane heard the report of the weapon. Before Mr. Kane could move from the spot Mr. Phinney again appeared at the window, immediately turning away and as Mr. Kane started toward the entrance of the building a second shot was fired.

Mr. Kane entered the house of John Long, who lives opposite the school, and notified the police of the suicide. Mr. Long and Mr. Kane left the house for the school building where they were joined by Mayor Ladd, who was attracted by the shots as he was moving about in his home. They broke the fastening of the iron gates which guard the entrance of the building and then smashed through the door. Rushing up the stairs Mr. Kane discovered the dead body of Mr. Phinney seated in a chair facing the window, and the revolver, with two chambers empty, was lying on the floor, two feet from the chair. The second shot was fired by the dead man after he had placed the muzzle of the weapon in his mouth. The first shot went wild and was later found lodged in a book in the hallway.

Acting Medical Referee Taylor was called and viewed the remains, but stated that no inquest was necessary. The shot was lodged in the brain and death resulted immediately.

On a small table behind the chair in which Mr. Phinney's dead body was found was a note written to Chester L. Howe, principal of the school, requesting that he deliver an envelope to Judge Cuptill and to have his body turned over to Undertaker Nickerson for burial.

Mr. Phinney was about 62 years of age and was a native of the city, the son of the late William Phinney. He had resided for a number of years with his wife in Elliot although he retained his legal residence on Marey street in ward 4, in which ward he was always active in politics. On Saturday he visited a number of his friends who he is alleged to have quarreled with prior to the election and requested that they forgive him for the things he had said. He is survived by his widow and two sisters, and several nephews.

NO SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS LIKELY

Washington, Nov. 12.—With the turn of the executive staff to the White House today it became almost certain that President Wilson would not call an extra session of Congress after March 4. Only some unforeseen development, probably in the international situation, would induce Mr. Wilson to do so.

After Mr. Wilson reaches Washington tomorrow night he will make arrangements for the opening of Congress in December. He will confer with various Senate and House leaders about the programme to be undertaken and with William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, about the estimates submitted by the heads of the departments as to the appropriations necessary during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Work on the message which is to be delivered at a joint session of the Senate and House, probably at noon on December 5, will begin within a week or ten days. This message probably will be short and will recommend the passage of the rest of the program for settling disputes between labor and capital, as outlined in the message delivered in September when the railroad brotherhoods threatened to strike.

This programme, most of which was abandoned to make way for the Adamson law, is likely to precipitate one of the most bitter fights Congress has had for years. There is great opposition, especially among members of the House from labor districts, to the proposal making it illegal to call a strike before there is governmental investigation of the grievance.

The appropriation bills, according to present indications, will be the largest ever made. Unless these bills are passed considerably they will amount to $2,000,000,000, including appropriations to carry on the preparedness program established at the last session.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. McAdoo will make every effort to trim the estimates down to a minimum.

NEWINGTON

Much enthusiasm has been shown amongst our townsmen regarding the result of Tuesday's election, and new congratulations are in order for Pres. Wilson, 53 votes were cast. Pres. Wilson received 37 votes and Mr. Hughes 19. There were 3 votes in favor of prohibition and 31 against. Mr. Stillman Packard was elected moderator and Messrs. C. W. Coleman, Albert Hodgdon and Stillman Packard supervisors without a dissenting vote.

Many of our people were present on Saturday evening at the celebration which was held in Portsmouth over the Democratic victory in the recent Presidential campaign.

Much interest has been manifested here in the result of the Montana election. Miss Rankin, who was elected to the Congress of the United States on last Tuesday, has friends and relatives here in Newington, Portsmouth, and Dover.

The services on Sunday morning were held in the Town Hall, owing to the fact that the old furnace has been removed and the new one has not yet been put in, but it is hoped that it will be soon.

The Reapers Society met with Mrs. Berkeley on Wednesday afternoon. The ladies put on the last finishing touches in redecorating the walls of the different rooms and the interior of the parsonage looks splendid. The ladies are planning for their annual sale on Dec. 31st. The public is looking forward with pleasure to this entertainment which is always a success.

BAD COLD? TAKE 'CASCARETS' FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

They're fine! Live your liver and bowels and clear your head.

No headache, sour stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets tonight and you will wake up with a clear head and your cold will be gone. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and four gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

CONFERENCE ON THE BOUNDARY LINE

Meeting to Be Held in Washington to Settle Vermont-New Hampshire Dispute.

Concord, Nov. 12.—A conference of the attorneys of both New Hampshire and Vermont who have been doing a large amount of work relative to the adjustment of the boundary line dispute between these states has been arranged for November 27, in Washington, D. C.

Attorney General James P. Tuttle of Manchester and his assistant, Joseph S. Matthews of Concord, will represent New Hampshire at the meeting and the interests of Vermont will be in the hands of Attorney General Herbert G. Barber of Brattleboro and ex-Attorney John G. Sargent of Ludlow.

It is understood that the counsel will undertake to agree upon some plan of procedure relative to the taking of evidence and getting the facts before the supreme court of the U. S. and after some plan has been agreed upon, it will be submitted to the court for approval. One of the points to be decided is whether the testimony will be taken before a commissioner or before a master in chancery.

The examination of witnesses will be arranged for after the method of procedure has been decided upon, but as there are a large number to appear, and many matters are involved, it is not likely that the case will be ready for submission to the court within the next year.

A survey has been made and plans have been drawn of the river from the northern border of the state south as far as Windsor county by the state of Vermont, and men are now at work on the survey in Windsor and Windham counties.

As for this state, arrangements are now being made for another survey. Counselor James B. Wallace of Canaan, Professors Robert Fletcher and C. A. Holden of Dartmouth, Asst. Attorney General Joseph S. Matthews and Thomas P. Cheney, 24 of his department have been in Vermont on matters pertaining to the boundary line dispute. They first went to the Vermont dam and then by motor boat nearly to Bellows Falls.

Settle down to real work now that the result of the election is known. But Mr. Wilson will have to travel some to live up to his many promises.

REPUBLICANS WILL ORGANIZE CONGRESS

Hold a Lead With Some Seats Still in Doubt.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The newly elected house of the 65th congress will face one of the most uncertain organizational situations in the history of the government. With a few districts still in doubt the Republicans appear to have a plurality of four or five and a possible majority of two or three, as an Independent elected in Massachusetts and a Progressive in Minnesota may vote with them for organizational purposes.

Independence of action has characterized a number of the reflected Republicans, however, and their attitude toward Democratic legislation has given the Democrats hope that some might carry their independence into the organization of the house.

Unofficial returns show that an effective and certain working majority does not exist for any party. President Wilson is not expected to call an extra session next spring, so that the organizational fight will not come until December, 1917, which will mean maneuvering for more than a year over the speakership and the important committees.

Speaker Clark is generally regarded as the Democratic choice for speaker but in the event of the party being in a majority some of the speaker's friends are expected to urge him to run rather for minority leader, which would start a fight with Claude Kitchin the present party leader in the house.

The congressional result in New Mexico is doubtful, the chances now favoring the Democrats. In Pennsylvania there are two, and possibly three districts where the soldier vote may change the results. In two of these, Republicans, and in one, a Democrat now stand as elected by small majorities. In North Carolina, Britt, a Republican, is challenging the election over Weaver, Democrat, by 13 majority.

If there is a Republican organization of the house, Gardner of Massachusetts would be well placed on Ways and Means. Gillett of Massachusetts would probably succeed Fitzgerald of New York as chairman of Appropriations. Green of Massachusetts would take the place of Alexander of Missouri on Merchant Marine. Whatever happens, Republicans cannot control legislation in the next congress because the new speaker will be Democratic by a safe working majority of 12. Little partisan legislation can be looked for, therefore.

The Democrats will probably try to complete their legislative program before March 4 when the 66th congress will convene. Important legislation for December includes immigration reform, a corrupt practice law, conservation and water power legislation, revision of the laws affecting railroads, a vocational education law, a law to permit organization of collective selling agencies in foreign countries, and more preparedness measures.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN HN SALTS

FLUSH YOUR KIDNEYS OCCASIONALLY IF YOU EAT MEAT REGULARLY.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

ted within the Tongass National Forest, Alaska, has been made a New National Monument by proclamation of President Wilson.

The rapid decay of the buildings at the vandalism of tourists and souvenir hunters have made it essential that the village be protected. It was abandoned by the Indians about ten years ago. Remaining there are about fifty Indian Indian totem poles, five or six remarkable speleothems. There are also eight large square buildings originally constructed according to the peculiar plan of the Rada Indians. The largest is 40 by 60 feet and made of round and curved timbers.

"Kasaan" means "a pretty town," and all reports agree that the village was well named. An examination of the area was made by the Forest Service and the Interior Department. The Smithsonian Institution endorsed the proposition for the establishment of a National Monument. The monument will be administered by the Forest Service, as it is located within a National Forest.

INITIATION CAUSED MUCH ATTENTION

FIVE NEW MEMBERS OF THE WENEHESA CLUB AMUSED LARGE NUMBERS ON MARKET SQUARE SATURDAY EVENING

Following the Democratic celebration parade on Saturday evening more than a thousand people on Market Square were the interested spectators of a number of funny stunts pulled off by the Wenehesa Club during which five new members of the club were forced to take the star roles. The crowd was kept amused by speeches and songs rendered by the candidates, who were almost safe from identification by being blacked up and otherwise disguised. But with this protection from too much publicity the candidates reckoned without their hosts and each in turn, as he delivered his speech or sang his song, was forced to make known to the world in a loud voice, just who and what he was.

The ceremonies were held in the square with the candidates standing on a box. Before these were commenced several other stunts were done by the candidates which including rolling apples and ponies up the car tracks with their noses.

VILLA USES OWN NAME TO HIDE WHEREABOUTS

Field Headquarters, Punitive Expedition, Mexico, by motor truck train to Columbus, N. M., Nov. 12.—Pancho Villa has found a new way to mystify his enemies, the Carranzistas, and deceive them as to his personal movements. Mexicans arriving here from the country to the south in which Villa's bandits are operating have brought the story to headquarters of the guerrilla's newest strategy.

The arrivals say Villa has instructed all his subordinate commanders to spread the news through the country that he is with their particular band. As there are less than a dozen bands, varying in length from fifty to three hundred men and operating in different portions of western Chihuahua, the scheme effectively conceals Villa's whereabouts.

One group of bandits, for instance, rides into Teneaschie after dark and takes all the provisions to be found in the village. As they go about their looting, each bandit tells the frightened townspeople that Villa himself is with them. None of the natives is bold enough to go out and see for himself whether the statement is true.

At the same time another band of raiders is robbing a village fifty miles south of Teneaschie. These bandits tell the villagers the same story. This may be repeated in half a dozen towns at the same night. Result: Next day General Trevino at Chihuahua City, or General Pershing here, is notified that Villa has been in six widely separated villages on the same night. And the chances are that he has really not been in any of them.

Besides protecting Villa from discovery, this ruse adds strength to the bandit groups using it. The very name of the outlaw is enough to terrorize the peaceful villagers who hear it, and all idea of resistance to the looters, who may be less than fifty strong, disappears.

The few male civilians who venture out of their homes to get a look at the bandit chieftain are promptly made prisoners by the raiders and carried off to serve under Villa—or face the firing squad.

General Pershing remarked today that this stratagem is the main cause of the numerous conflicting reports of Villa's movements which reach the border.

"There is no such thing," said the general, "as an absolutely reliable and accurate report of Villa's whereabouts. There are times, of course, when Mexicans who have actually seen Villa in a certain place make known the fact, but by the time the information travels two hundred miles overland to me it is almost certain Villa is somewhere else. It works the same way, I imagine, in reaching General Trevino."

Although Carranzistas and Villistas have clashed several times in the last two weeks, none of the former can say positively that they have seen Villa. But they have always thought he was in personal command of every engagement. This may account for the bandits coming away victorious on nearly every occasion.

"The fox has lost none of his cunning, and his bite is more deadly than ever," is the way the Mexicans describe Villa.

ELECTION LITERATURE MAKES HIM "ANARCHIST"

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Citizenship no longer appeals to Charles A. Fillip, one of last year's crop, since he has been given an insight into the methods of the American candidate for office.

Campaign literature descended upon Fillip in a veritable flood and as a result he calmed down and wrote to some of the most persistent vote solicitors as follows:

Please do not annoy me with your voting circulars any more and kindly accept my resignation as a citizen. I will always remain an anarchist." Copies of the letter have fallen into the hands of the federal authorities and that little sentence about always being an anarchist probably will result in acceptance of Fillip's "resignation" as a citizen. The courts have been asked to take away the papers he was so anxious to get only twelve months ago.

SLANG OF THE ARMY BEWILDERS NEW COMIC

Field Headquarters, Punitive Expedition, Mexico, by motor truck to Columbus, N. M.—Army slang is in a class by itself. Not even the picturesque argot of baseball surpasses it in originality and that quality known as the "punch."

Pass a group of soldiers eating dinner in the open air at the various regimental camps that encircle these headquarters and this is probably the "conversation" that would be heard:

Slide the grease this way.

All right, gimme me a hunk of the punk.

Give me some more of the stum.

A little more Java for me.

Any wireless left?

The vocabulary expert would be gasping for breath before he finished trying to figure out what it was all about. Here is a brief list of the slang used by the American soldier wherever he may be:

Grease—Butter.

Punk—Bread.

Stum—Stew.

Java—Coffee.

Wireless—Microwave.

Goldfish—Salmon.

Chew—Food of any sort.

Kitchen cops—Soldiers working in the kitchen and mess halls.

Dog-robbers—Men who serve officers as strikers or servants.

Shave-tail—Second Lieutenant.

Stum-slinger—Cook.

Punk-slicer—The man who cuts the bread.

Lance Jack—Lance corporal.

Pill-roller—A hospital corps soldier.

Wagon-soldier—Artilleryman.

Horse chambermaid—A soldier assigned to duty cleaning the stables.

Mud-splasher—Infantryman.

Doughboy—The same.

Orderly—A soldier who borrows clothes from his comrades.

Pen-pusher—A regimental or company clerk.

A heat—A soldier who continually dodges work.

Milt-roller—A private who tries to ingratiate himself with his first sergeant.

Buzzard—A discharge.

Blind—A fine imposed by court-martial.

Busied—Stripes taken from non-commissioned officers by order of a court-martial.

Sixty-six—A sentence of six months in prison and forfeiture of sixty dollars pay.

The K-O—The commanding officer.

GOVERNOR WILL SET "SWEET POTATO DAY"

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 12.—"Sweet Potato Day" will be observed in Alabama. On that day everybody will cook sweet potatoes and talk sweet potatoes. The Governor of the state has endorsed the movement and is to designate the day. Some Alabama newspapers are boasting that one can subsist upon sweet potatoes alone. The object of the movement is to prove that one of Alabama's largest crops should have a great effect in cutting down the high cost of living.

PENNIES DON'T GO IN PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 12.—Under the slogan "Pennies Won't Satisfy Pennsylvania Pride," the Association of Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania has started out to raise $150,000 for a clubhouse to be used by the women students, who now number 2,500.

MEN RETURNING IN LARGE NUMBERS TO THE CHURCHES

REV. DR. BRIDGEMAN DELIVERED INTERESTING ADDRESS AT THE NORTH CHURCH LAST EVENING.

That men were beginning to take a renewed interest in the work of the churches and that they were again beginning to return to the custom of attending services regularly is the belief of Dr. Bridgeman, editor of The Congregationalist, in his talk last evening at the North Church. Dr. Bridgeman took as his subject, "The New Masculine Interest in Religion" and delivered an interesting address to a large audience. Mrs. Edith A. Talbot, daughter of General L. C. Armstrong, the founder of Hampton Institute, was to have been the speaker of the evening, but was forced to cancel her engagement on account of ill health.

In his talk Dr. Bridgeman reviewed to some extent the work of the churches throughout the history of Christianity and said that at the start it was the men, including the Apostles, who carried on the work. As the church became older the interest of the men continued to grow until within a very few years when they apparently ceased to take any active interest in the work of the churches and in many instances practically withdrawing their support especially as shown by attending the services.

He praised in high terms the women who had throughout the years been actively engaged in the church work and said that with the return of the men their interest was responsible in a marked degree. He also spoke highly of the number of laymen who were working in the interest of the church and of the work which was being done by the Rev. "Billy" Sunday and other evangelists, who were daily gaining converts to religion and bringing back to the churches those who had become careless.

Dr. Bridgeman has spoken a number of times to Portsmouth audiences and is a man of exceptional ability. His talk last evening at the North Church proved of great interest and was forcibly and eloquently delivered.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says: Inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet, and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day, it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at any drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, shallow complexion, others who have bilious attack, acid stomach and constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

BREAKS AT COUNTRY CLUB WERE SOLVED

Greenland Young Man Caught in One of the Cottages.

The mystery of the several breaks in the cottages at the Country Club was cleared up on Saturday when a Greenland young man was caught in one of the cottages where he had been camping out for some days.

In the past two weeks several of the cottages have been broken into and in two cases golf clubs have been taken.
Articles left out of the lockers in the locker room, have also disappeared at various times.

Saturday one of the cottage owners opening his cottage found evidence that some one was occupying it. In the kitchen the oil stove was lighted and some meat cooking, while other food was on the table. A quick search of the camp located the young man hidden away in a closet. He was pulled out and at first showed an inclination to fight, but he was quickly subdued, and later taken into the police station and locked up. He was kept at the police station over Sunday and this morning released, as the owner of the cottage and the club officials did not wish to prosecute. His parents have agreed to make good the damage done and replace the stolen articles as far as possible, confident that he has been taught a lesson.

Landlord Quinn Remembered by Costly Gift on His Birthday.

Landlord Cornelius Quinn of the Hotel DeWitt, was given a pleasant surprise on Saturday evening, the occasion being his 45th birthday, fitting centerpiece. After the inner

Increases in wages for the station employees of the Boston and Albany near future, such action being favored by the general board of the Brotherreadjustment of working conditions is considered along with a raise. Delegates were present from Springfield, Worcester, Pittsfield and North Adams.

The Portsmouth wrecking crew went to Hampton and Beverly on Sunday where repairs were made on two cars which had been set off at these stations by freight trains.
